

THE FUTURE OF NUCLEAR IS SHAPED HERE

200+ Participants

20+ Speakers

20+ Exhibitors

binding.energy is the international strategy and community event for the fusion and fission sectors. Taking place January 12–14, 2027 in Aachen, Germany, the conference brings together key decision-makers from industry, policy, research and regulation with a strong focus on Small Modular Reactors (SMRs), Generation IV systems, fusion technologies, and global collaboration.

What makes binding.energy unique?

- High-level speakers from the UK, Japan, US, Korea, Canada, China and the EU
- Strategic focus on market developments, licensing, commercialization and investment
- C-level networking in an open and purpose-driven environment
- Exhibitors with cutting-edge technologies and project potential

Why participate or partner?

- Direct access to exclusive insights and international decision-makers
- Clarity on technologies, roadmaps and regulatory landscapes
- New business opportunities, partnerships and European visibility
- Pitch slots and on-stage presence for sponsors & exhibitors

Voices of the participants

Aline Des Cloizeaux
Director, International Atomic Energy Agency

„My motivation to join was the possibility to speak about fission and fusion. Large nuclear power plants will remain popular, yet we see many StartUps also in SMRs and Fusion, of course.“

Dr. Kim Han-Gon
President, iSMR in South Korea

"Events like this create a unique opportunity for international collaboration. By exchanging experience across countries and technologies, we can accelerate the global development of nuclear energy."

Dr. Friedbert Pflüger
Managing Director, Clean Energy Forum

"What makes this conference special is that it builds a community. Through exchange and collaboration between experts, real progress in nuclear energy becomes possible."

Prof. Dr. Satoshi Konishi, Chair, Kyoto Fusioneering

„Bringing together the fusion and fission communities is essential. By sharing knowledge and technologies across both fields, we can accelerate the development of the entire nuclear industry.“
